We already use BMP. We soil test & apply according to recommendations.
We have frozen growth up north, and a very short growing season. We run out of fertilizer supply every season where the coops can not get material for us. We must apply in the fall otherwise we will not get all our crop planted in a timely fashion. The North should be different than the South. The "Brown" area is not always a very accurate area that should be restricted on Fall application. We do not waste money. We are farmers who need to make money.
