SPEAKER - Dr. David Kohl

MEGA TRENDS 2020-2030

Dr. Kohl's extensive travel and work experiences with a wide range of groups including ag producers, agribusinesses, lenders and corporate board members give him a unique pulse on trends that will impact the landscape of agriculture. This session is designed to link global perspectives down to the business level, and will cover changing consumer trends, dietary trends, technology and productivity, global issues, international trade, the transition from baby boomers to millennials and generation Z, and the urbanization of global populations. The saying, "think globally, but act locally" is critical for the proactive business person attempting to gain a strategic advantage.
